Westin 2 Butler

Parkour is a relatively young discipline that focuses on personal development through creative use of your surroundings. The goal in a nutshell is learning to adapt your body and mind to the various obstacles you'll encounter. While the media representation makes it seem daunting, parkour is a complete discipline where difficulty scales with the growth of the practitioner. Come learn about the origins of parkour, its development, and how it will grow in the future. A bonus section of this panel will be the potential of parkour in fursuits, and why you probably shouldn't do it without some serious preparation and research (or not at all, ever). An adult moderator will be present.

Every fur has his or her own story of how they discovered the fandom. For many it was the first time they realized their personal, private interest in anthropomorphic characters that no one else could possibly share—was in fact shared by thousands! Come share your “I’m not the only one!” moment with other furs and discover how similar—and how different—our stories are.

Don't Call Me a “Greymuzzle”

Saturday 5.00 - 6.00p

Joe Strike

Westin 2 Butler

Joe Strike has been part of the fandom since the late 1980's when there were no furry conventions, only a handful of sessions at mainstream sci-fi gatherings and a furry room party or two. Joe refuses to be considered a “Greymuzzle”—a word that suggests old age, feebleness and an irrelevance to today's furry scene, and offers a much better term to describe the fandom's earliest participants... “Paleofurs,” a word that summons up images of powerful dinosaurs and the beginning of all things—and a reminder that older furs are a vital part of furry fandom.

Whether they are from theatrical movies like Scar, Shere Kahn, Honest John and Ratigan or the joy of television with dozens of memorable characters... twirl your mustaches, sharpen your claws, work on your menacing laugh, and “Be Prepared” to meet your fellow Disney Fans.

Trading card games like the Magic: The Gathering game combine collectable cards with a strategy game. “Drafting” is a process of selecting your deck one card at a time from randomized packs. Players then build a deck from their selections and duel opponents. Tournaments will be open to the first 8-16 players. Sign-ups will be posted. Please be on time. Players are encouraged to bring something to track life points whether that be dice or pencil and paper. No cards are necessary. Experience is not necessary, but is helpful.
